

2015 TUITION FEES FOR EU STUDENTS

Tuition fees or the amount you pay to study a course can vary. To ensure you are prepared, we've put together the following important information.

How can I pay my fees?

You can do this in two ways:

- Pay semester by semester
- Take out a student tuition fee loan

What are tuition fee loans?

Eligible students can borrow up to the full cost of their course from the UK government. Where you live, your age and the course you intend to take can affect whether you can get a loan. The majority of EU students are eligible, but if you have completed a degree previously or are not ordinarily resident in the EU, you will not be entitled to the loan. For further information on tuition fee loans, you can visit gov.uk/student-finance.

How do I pay back my loan?

You pay your loan back once you have finished your course and are earning more than the income threshold in the country you live in. After 30 years the loan is written off so only the first 30 years of your earnings count towards paying off the total. For further details on tuition fee loan repayments you can visit studentloanrepayment.co.uk.

How much are the course fees?

At CRIC your tuition fees differ depending on how you choose to pay them. Students who successfully take out a Student Finance England loan are given a discount, meaning their fees are £7,000 per academic year. If you do not qualify for a loan or choose to pay the fees yourself, you will be charged standard CRIC fees which can be found here: cric.navitas.com/apply-today/fees.
